Dear Patient,

It is the most wonderful time of the year! Here at Lifestyle Hearing, we reflected on our most cherished Holiday memories. You likely have your own favorite memories, so read traditions shared by our staff in this newsletter and stir up some Holiday cheer!

And what are the Holidays without great food to enjoy with your loved ones? That's why we chose a delicious recipe that you can try, too!

Lifestyle Hearing is excited to announce we have a new reason to celebrate. We were happy to recently welcome a new audiologist to our team. Check out the column to the right to get to know Tiffany.

This month, and into the New Year, celebrate more than the giving and receiving of gifts. Make sure that you or your loved ones hear every word, laugh and joyful sound during gatherings. Sharing in every moment builds new memories you can continue to cherish for years to come.

Due for an annual hearing screening?

Through the end of December, schedule a COMPLIMENTARY HEARING SCREENING for you or a loved one and decide if hearing aids may be a solution for you:

From Our Family to Yours... Favorite Holiday Traditions

“My favorite holiday memory is of my children and their cousins, wide-eyed, looking at the gifts piled in front of my parents’ fireplace. Then, one at a time, everyone would open their gifts with such glee.”

From Our Family to Yours... Favorite Holiday Traditions

"I purchased a copy of 'Bialosky's Christmas' by Leslie McGuire back when my oldest daughter was four years old. I read it every year until my daughters out-grew it, but am happily sharing it once again with my grandbabies. I even remember to 'do the voices!'"

Evelyn, Patient Care Coordinator

"Being from the west side of Michigan, we have a lot of tree farms. So my boyfriend and I are able to go and cut down our own Christmas tree. We cut down our trees and then warm up with hot cocoa with our nieces."

Krystle, Patient Care Coordinator

"My favorite holiday tradition is a newer one that I have started with my daughter. Every Christmas Eve she gets a Christmas box. In the box are a plate and a cup for cookies and milk, reindeer food, and a bag of oatmeal and glitter to sprinkle on the grass so the reindeer know where to go. She gets new Christmas pajamas and a Christmas book to read at bedtime and a Christmas movie we watch together. There is also an antique key in the box, which is Santa's key to her house. I love watching her open the special box and hope she continues this with her children."

Becky, Lifestyle Hearing Practice Administrator

"My favorite tradition on Christmas day is to watch my two dogs get into their stockings and big Christmas bag of new toys and treats, and watch 'The Christmas Story' movie all day."

Kristy, Patient Care Coordinator

"My favorite holiday memory has always been how my family celebrates on Christmas Eve. We have a traditional Ukrainian dinner, open presents, and spend the night relaxing together. Last year was our son's first Christmas and on Christmas Eve before bed, my husband and I read him, 'How the Grinch Stole Christmas,' under the Christmas tree. I cannot wait to continue this tradition this year and the years to follow, as our son grows and really starts to understand the beauty and meaning of Christmas."

Nicole, Hearing Instrument Specialist

"Every year my entire family celebrates Christmas Eve at my parent's house. Then we go home and we watch 'The Polar Express' with my two daughters. Before bed, we put out cookies and milk for Santa. In the morning, the girls wake up very early and are super excited that Santa has visited our home. Santa always brings each girl a movie as a gift. After we open the presents, we watch another movie together snuggled on the couch and make breakfast. It is the warm coziness of this time that we love."
